PREFACE TO FIRST EDITION

THIS work is an attempt to provide for English-speaking students a fuller Esperanto-English Dictionary than Mr. R. H. Geoghegan's excellent little handbook, or even Dr. Zamenhof's UNIVERSALA VORTARO could possibly offer within their limited compass. Based necessarily upon the Universala Vortaro with the help of the Plena Vortaro (Russian-Esperanto) and embodying to a large extent many of the excellent features of M. de Beaufront's Dictionnaire Esperanto-Français, the present work will, it is hoped, greatly assist the learner in the proper use and formation of derivative words,—wherein the auxiliary International Language is so copious—and will guide him in the selection of the form best suited to express his meaning.

The compiler has done his work conscientiously and well, and what he has accomplished entitles him to the gratitude of all who are now studying and propagating Esperanto, or who will hereafter approach it through the medium of the English language.

The work contains, in addition to the root-words upon which Dr. Zamenhof, our common master, so ingeniously founded his system, many of their derivatives. But, indeed, such is the wealth of the language, made available to all by the use of affixes (each of which will be found in its due alphabetic place) that the book might easily have been made more bulky.

For instance, the word akurata, accurate, might be reinforced by the following: akurate, accurately; akurateco, accuracy, etc. And out of the single root sana, healthy, about fifty words may be formed.

Attention is called to the following points :—

(1) The part of the word in thicker type is the root-idea, to which the proper grammatical ending has to be added.

(2) Words preceded by an asterisk (*) do not need any termination ; they are primary words and are complete in themselves. However, they adopt a termination, like other root-words, and can be made, when required, nouns, adjectives, verbs, or adverbs, by adding to them one of terminations, o, n, i, e. Ex. : antaŭ, before ; antaŭa, previous ; antaŭe, previously.

(3) In the formation of compound words, two or more roots or elements may be joined together, and a grammatical termination added. To assist easy articulation, the grammatical ending of the mediate word may be left between ; thus : poštarkarto, or poštokarto, post-card. If the words are used separately, then one of them must, of course, be an adjective : posta karto.

The Dictionary might also have been easily swollen by the inclusion of many more extraneous words which, in slightly altered spelling, have already become quite international. Such words are to be treated like teatro, theatre ; centro, centre. Ex. : teatra, theatrical ; centra, central, etc., etc.

May the new work do much to assist the English-speaking peoples to appreciate more and more fully the value of the new means of international communication in which they are now beginning to manifest an interest !

PREFACE TO PRESENT EDITION

THIS Second Edition of the Esperanto-English Dictionary has been carefully revised and enlarged, and, with a view to its improvement, many works, published since the First Edition was issued, have, at great cost of time and labour, been consulted and compared.

Amongst others must be specially mentioned Fondamenta Krestomatio, Dictionnaire Esperanto-Français, Vocabulaire Français-Esperanto, Esperanto-Svensk Ordbok, and Vocabulario Esperanto-Español.

For the many valuable hints and indispensable helps derived from the above sources, the compiler begs to tender his heart-felt thanks to the following devoted champions of, and workers in, our cause ; Dr. Louis Zamenhof, Messrs. Louis de Beaufront, Th. Cart, Merckens and P. Berthelot (France) ; P. Ahlberg (Sweden), and Sres Inglada and Villanueva (Spain).

Also to all true friends of the Esperantist idea who have generously proffered their disinterested help.

Any further suggestions or advice that might contribute to the perfecting of future Editions, if required, and make the Dictionary more and more useful and acceptable to our great English-speaking communities, will be duly weighed and considered, and may be forwarded to the publishers.

While engaged in the preparation of this edition the author was seized with a painful disease, and before he had completed the revision of his proofs Mr. Motteau passed away. With a plucky devotion to the cause of Esperanto, which he had so much at heart, Mr. Motteau struggled hard to complete his task, but it was not to be. The last proofs have been revised by one of the author's colleagues.

HOW TO USE THE ESPERANTO-ENGLISH DICTIONARY

It is of the utmost importance that particular attention be paid to the root-meaning of each word.

The first thing to be ascertained when you meet a word in this dictionary is what termination is given to it (whether -a, -o, or -i).

The ending -a { shows the root- } adjectival: kara, dear.

The ending -o , , , substantival: domo, house.

The ending -i , , , verbal: vid-i, to see.

- (A) From an adjective root (bela, fine, beautiful) you can form a noun (beleco, beauty), verbs (beligi, to embellish), (beliĝi, to become fine), an adverb (bele, finely), etc.
- (O) From a substantive root (patro, father), you can form (patra, paternal), (patre, paternally), also patrino, mother), (patrina, maternal), patrine, maternally).
- (I) From a verbal root (armi, to arm) you can form (armilo, weapon), (armilejo, arsenal), (armaĵo, armour), (armilfaristo, gunsmith), etc.

ESPERANTO-ENGLISH DICTIONARY

EXPLANATORY NOTES

The Figures in parentheses found in a few instances in the dictionary refer to the following explanatory notes.

(1) The suffix -ad-. Remember that this suffix represents habitual practice and not momentaneous action. For instance if we wish to express the faculties of thought, will, touch, hearing, smelling, tasting, feeling, etc., we may say pens|ad|o, vol|ad|o, palp|ad|o, aŭd|ad|o, flar|ad|o, gust|ad|o, sent|ad|o, etc., but for an isolated act of such faculties, pens|o, vol|o, palp|o, aŭd|o, flar|o, gust|o, sent|o, etc.

La el|pens|o de Esperanto ire help|os la hom|a|n pro-gres|ad|o|n. The invention of Esperanto will greatly help human progress (general sense).

La verk|ad|o de tiu ĉi long|a verko mi|n mult|e lac|i|gas. The composition of this long work much fatigues me.

* * * Sometimes art-o is used as a suffix instead of ad|o. Ex.: danc|ad|o, or danc|art|o (the art of dancing); kant|ad|o, or kant|art|o (the art of singing), etc.

(2) The suffixes -ec- and -aĵ- must be carefully distinguished.
-ec- (suffix) shows the abstract quality or state of the root idea:—amik|o, friend; amik|ec|o, friendship; pur|a, clean, pure; pur|ec|o, purity, cleanliness.

-aĵ- (suffix) expresses concrete result, what is made of, or out of, the root meaning: kresk|i, to grow; kresk|aĵ|o, a growth, a plant; ramp|i, to crawl; ramp|aĵ|o, a reptile, a creeping thing; bov|o, ox; bov|aĵ|o, beef.

(3) Difference between de and da.

The preposition de expresses possession, use, source, and also determines the complement of the passive (if it be the doer). Ex.: La plum|o de Mario; glas|o de vin|o, wineglass; de ti|o ĉi mi pensas ke . . ., from this I think that, etc.

The preposition da must be used (instead of de) when a noun or adverb of measure, weight, or quantity precedes the complement, the latter being naturally in the nominative. Ex.: glas|o da akv|o, glass of water; mank|o da temp|o, want of time;

EXPLANATORY NOTES

mi aĉetis dek|du|o|n da fork|oj, I bought a dozen forks ; don|u al li tas|o|n da teo, give him a cup of tea ; ĉu vi havas tas|o|n de teo, have you a tea-cup ?

(4) A qualifying word does not in Esperanto take the adjective ending (in -a) unless the said word clearly refers to a noun or pronoun duly expressed in the sentence ; in the contrary case the adverbial ending -e is used. Ex. : La vetero est|as vurm|a hodiaŭ, the weather is warm to-day ; est|as tre varme hodiaŭ, (it) is very warm to-day.

(5) Example showing difference between -ig and -iĝ : Paŭlo kaj Marijo edz|iĝ|is hieraŭ ; la episkopo edz|ig|is ili|n, Paul and Mary were married yesterday ; the bishop married them.

(6) Do not confound the meanings of -ebl- and -ind-.

-ebl- is the suffix of possibility, something not unlikely to be.

-ind- has the meaning of 'worthy of.'

* * Difference between -ebl- and -ind- : kred|ebl|a, that may be believed ; kred|ind|a, worthy of belief, reliable.

(7) The prefix mal is not to be confounded with a mere negation ; it means the exact contrary of the stem to which it is prefixed.

(8) The accusative -n is not only affixed to direct objects (whether nouns or pronouns) but also to all adjectives and determinative words referring to such direct objects ; even adverbs assume the -n when indicating motion towards, just as nouns do in the same case. Ex. : Mi vidas la bona|n patro|n, I see the good father ; la patrino amas vi|n, the mother loves you ; li ne havis sia|n paſilo|n, he had not his gun ; ĉu vi vidas tiuj|n grizajn birdoj|n? do you see those grey birds ? kiu|n vi renkontis? whom did you meet ? Mi iras tie|n, I go there ; kie|n li iras? whither does he go ? maršu antaue|n! march forward !

* * When in doubt whether a verb requires a direct or an indirect object, the accusative -n may be used without any preposition. Ex. : obeu al via patro, or obeu via|n patro|n, obey your father.

A

-a, adjective ending. Ex. : kura patro, dear father. abat-o, abbot (of a monastery). abel-o, bee.	aberaci-o, aberration (astr. and phys.). abi-o, fir ; —aro, fir plantation. Abisen-a, Abyssinian (adj.) ;
